Consultation

This consultation document invites public comments on the draft Securities and Futures (Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading - Arbitration) Rules (“the draft Rules”) which the Securities and Futures Commission (“SFC”) proposes to make under section 118(2) of the Securities and Futures Ordinance (No. 5 of 2002) (“the Ordinance”) when it commences.

Introduction

1. Like the Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading Ordinance, the Ordinance does not contain detailed provisions prescribing the procedure for the settlement by arbitration of any dispute between a client and a licensed corporation in relation to leveraged foreign exchange trading. It merely gives the SFC the necessary rule-making power, under section 118(2), to prescribe the procedure in subsidiary legislation.

2. There are controls built into the legislative system, whereby any rules made by the SFC must be subject to negative vetting by the Legislative Council. In addition, a mandatory consultation requirement is stipulated in section 398 of the Ordinance. Therefore, the SFC now releases the draft Rules (see Attachment 1) for public consultation.

3. The public may obtain copies of the consultation document and the attachments free of charge at the SFC’s office and on the SFC’s Internet website at <http://www.hksfc.org.hk>.

4. The SFC invites interested parties to submit written comments on the draft Rules or to comment on related matters that might have a significant impact upon the draft Rules no later than 11 April 2002. Any person wishing to comment should provide details of any organization whose views they represent. In addition, persons suggesting alternative approaches are encouraged to submit proposed text to amend the draft Rules.

Background to the draft Rules

5. A copy of the draft Rules is attached. In short, they prescribe, for the purposes of section 118(1)(b) of the Ordinance, the procedure for the settlement by arbitration of any dispute between a client and a licensed corporation in relation to leveraged foreign exchange trading.

6. The draft Rules have been prepared having regard to, and are largely based on, the existing Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading (Arbitration) Rules made under sections 7(5) and 73 of the Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading Ordinance. The only changes are to make the draft Rules technologically neutral and therefore to modernize the procedure. The draft Rules provide for the establishment and constitution of the Arbitration Panel, selection and replacement of the Arbitrator, the procedural rules for the commencement, conduct and termination of the proceedings and other miscellaneous matters.

7. It is the intention of the SFC that the draft Rules should be user-friendly and they have been drafted so as to streamline the procedure with notices and other documents now able to be served electronically. Furthermore, the draft Rules no longer rely on an arbitration clause in the client agreement. The SFC would welcome suggestions from industry participants on any specific improvements that could be made to the draft Rules to make them user-friendly for participants.

New Policy Initiatives

8. No major policy changes have been incorporated into the draft Rules, which on the whole re-enact the existing Leveraged Foreign Exchange Trading (Arbitration) Rules, with the following minor changes:

- (a) Under section 118(1)(b) of the Ordinance it must be a condition of a license for the carrying on of leveraged foreign exchange trading, that a client may require a dispute to be referred to arbitration. In contrast, under the existing law, this is not mandatory. The draft Rules reflect this and they are also less technically reliant on an arbitration clause in view of the broad scope of section 118(1)(b);
- (b) The draft Rules are now technologically neutral, reflecting section 400 of the Ordinance, so that documents are not precluded from being sent or served electronically
